Storm of Endorsements for Don Huffines
It's hurricane season for endorsements in the Comptroller's race

DALLAS, TX - In an overwhelming demonstration of momentum, conservative Republican candidate for Texas Comptroller, Don Huffines, continues to secure endorsements at an unprecedented pace – blowing by the opposition, surging past any historical precedent.

A Category 5 storm of endorsements blew in this week, including Riley Gaines, Wesley Hunt, and Charlie Kirk, who all endorsed Don Huffines' campaign for Comptroller.

"This is a knockout punch for the competition," said Huffines. "This is more than a campaign, it's a movement. Texans are rallying around our message: audit government, cut waste, eliminate DEI, stop taxpayer funding of illegal aliens, and return the savings to the people."

The Huffines Campaign has been a whirlwind of significant support since the start. Ted Cruz, Vivek Ramaswamy, Dr. Ron Paul, and Matt Gaetz were among the early supporters. A supermajority of the Texas State Republican Executive Committee has stepped across the line for Huffines. Huffines, long known for his bold, unwavering conservatism, said his campaign is igniting grassroots support from every corner of Texas and across the nation.

The latest endorsement from Turning Point USA founder Charlie Kirk came with a bold declaration: I have known Don for many years, and he is a good friend. He was America First before it was popular."

Political activist and former NCAA swimmer Riley Gaines showered praise on Huffines in a video clip explaining that Texas has "...one race that can change everything..." and exclaimed she is "...so proud to endorse Don Huffines for Texas Comptroller."

The winds of change are blowing, and Don Huffines is leading the most energized, insurgent statewide campaign in Texas.
